development in the two situations was the report from Ambassader Herrick that he had received a communication from the French Finance Minister containing elements of a plan worked out by him for refunding of war debts to the United States. The Ambassader report was received by Secretary Hughes and the news given at once to the Cabinet meeting in regular session at the White House.

Regarding the question of claims collections by the United States from Germany, now the subject of diplomatic exchanges between the State Department and the London Foreign Office, it was said the latest note from London on that subject had been received and would be answered before the 6th inst. when the Allied finance ministers to to Paris to discuss the allocation of their governments of proceeds to be paid by Germany under the Dawes plan.

The newspaper adds that some decision about the resumption of the gold standard and the reports is increased slightly.

A new provision creates an expedition service for the parcel post at a cost of 25 cents a package. Under this service packages would receive special routing, dispatching and handling from the point of origin to delivery.

Increases recommended by the Postoffice Department on money orders, registered mail, special delivery and insurance and collection-delivery services were approved.

MINIMUM ADVANCED

The newspaper adds that some decision about the resumption of the gold standard and the removal of the embargo on gold exports must be taken by the government soon; since it would be dangerous to leave it until the last man of the American Debt Fundament will decide to give the sasurance that the embargo on gold exports will not be renewed to such an extent as to insure that the point of origin to delivery services were approved.

ang its obligation, and that an amortization rate of one-half of 1 per cent would be proposed as the method of cutting down the debt in annual installments. It was calculated that on the basis of the interest rates carried by previously granged funding settlements, the one-half of 1 per cent amortization rate would wipe out the debt in about eighty years.

Whether from knowledge imparted to Becretary Mellon by Ambassador Jusserand in their previous conversations or not, officials accepted reports that France would ask a ten-year delay in payments as logical. It was explained that the Treasury computation of eighty years for paying the debt at ½ per cent each year would coincide with the ninety-year proposal reported since the ulnety years was supposed to include the ten-year period when no payments were contemplated.

the Economist is inclined to the opinion that the time is not yet ripe for a solution of this question. The Economist is a Liberal organ, and like other Liberal newspapers, is disposed to take the French or European side in a conflict of opinion between America and Europe—the former taking the view that debts are commercial debts and the latter that they are political debts.

Europe, says the Economist, looks cynically upon a rich country like the United States treating French and Italian indebtedness arising from a struggle for civilization as merely a commercial obligation; but at the same time admits the extreme difficulty of inducing the American taxpayer to see it in any other light.

the United States that this country would not object to the United States being indulgent with France as regards paying France's debt is generally regarded as accurately representing the view of the British government on the debt question, although there is a probability that the suggestion has not been conveyed in actual official form.

FRANCE CHIDED

FRANCE CHIDED

Judging from the views of the press there likely would be no great objection to granting France a moratorium, or possibly canceliation of arrears of interest, or even easier funding terms than were granted Great Britain, but always provided that Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill's stipulation that France shall make parl-passu payments to Great Britain be observed.

The Standard, however, sounds a note of impatience in editorially commenting on this point, recalling how lightly the Frenchman is taxed in comparison to the Englishman and saying that Englahd has a tremendous unemployment. The newspaper points out also that Great Britain has reduced her defensive forces almost below the limits of safety, while France maintains land, sea and air forces vastly in excess of anything demanded by present considerations of security. Acting in almost record time after the conclusion of hearings on the bill, the committee was able to get the measure before the Senate before it votes Tuesday on President Coolidge's veto of the salary increase bill. In fact, Senator Moses indicated he might seek adoption of the new measure on Monday before debate is opened on the veto.

Meanwhile, interest over the veto increased today with the suspension of six postal supervisors on charges in connection with the use of money to influence pending postal legislation. The action was discussed in the Senate by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, of Arizona, who declared it a "smoke screen." He read a statement by officials of four national organizations, of postal employees saying the men had no connection with those organizations.

"The organization involved the National Association of Supervisory Employees," said the statement, "is composed exclusively of the supervisory officials in first and second-class postoffices. In private industry these supervisory officials would be classed as employees or with the managerial or boss group."

At the same time administration leaders expressed confidence that the veto would be sustained. The new rate measure includes the salary increase bill as it was vetoed, but with some administration changes made by the committee today. BODY INVOLVED

Nanking and other towns on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway.

In the town of Soochow, near Shanghai, officers of the Chamber of Commerce and heads of wealthy families are being held up by troops and are being forced to put up funds to prevent looting.

To the south of Shanghai fighting is going on between the forces of Chan Lo Shan and Sun Chun Fang, and reports this afternoon state that Sung Kiang has fallen to Sun. Heavy guns are again being heard on the outskirts of Shanghai and the railway line has been out by the destruction of a bridge about twenty miles out of Shanghai.

Foster, Father of McClintock Demands that Judge Explain Why Foul Play Issue Was 'Raised

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—After Coroner Oscar Wolff had announced oday that his official medical experts had found no trace of poison or other unnatural cause of death in the body of William N. McClintock the "millionaire orphan," William D. Shepherd, foster father of Mc-Clintock, issued a public statement demanding that Judge Harry Olson explain publicly why he had raised the issue of possible foul play.

McClintock, according to a statement of the Coroner, died of typhoid fever complicated by "a profound secondary intestinal hemorrhage." The Coroner said "there was nothing unusual found" in the autopay.

GIRL'S STATEMENT HELD Shortly after Shepherd's statement was announced, Chief Justice Olson issued a statement in which he said:

Frontage Mulholland Skyline Drive in the Town of GIRARD

THE beautiful Mulholland Skyline Drive was opened Saturday, December 27th, from Cahuenga Pass [Hollywood] to Calabasas, at the head of the San Fernando Valley. This opening gives to the motoring public of Southern California one of the most beautiful scenic drives in America. This drive passes through the town of Girard at the intersection of Topanga Canyon Drive. At this point the most desirable frontage is to be had.

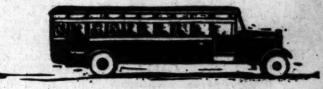

A few years from now will you be saying, "I could have bought frontage right on Mulholland Skyline Drive in Girard at such and such a price"-or will you be one of the few fortunates who "struck while the iron was hot?"

Men who buy real estate profitably are invariably men of vision—men who can look ahead and who buy ahead of assured development.

There are just a few choice sites to be had-and they are fast being taken up. When they are gone, all the wishing in the world cannot bring others—and there are no Aladdin's lamps today.

The sites are large, commanding a sweeping view of the beautiful San Fernando Valley with its distant barrier of purple mountains. The prices are surprisingly moderate. The terms

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1921
At 1:30 p.m. we left Frohnleiten. Ten minutes later we reached Bruck, where there was a tenminute stop. The Communists were in the restaurant and are reported to have smashed the windows and crowded against the railway platform. The volkswehr (national militia) stood there and was supposed to prevent this. When the situation became critical the Entente officer had the guns loaded. Thereupon the national militia retired right and left. I suppose this was intended to show the sovereignty of Austria. In the car one could hear the masses yelling. One soap-box orator cried continuously, "Down with the monarchy!" and "Long live the republic!" Also that I was a mass murderer. This orator is supposed to have been the Mayor of Bruck.

After this incident our journey proceeded smoothly. Everywhere only workers were visible.

At Innsbruck many people waved their hands. The railway station of Innsbruck made a queer impression upon me. The Austrian soldiery looks like the figures in the old game, "Venice in Vienna;" the city police, like Frussian infantry. A sorry combination!

FUTILE PRIENDSHIP

On the stretch Innsbruck-Feld-kirchen we met two trains in which people recognized me and were very friendly.

When we were about to leave Feldkirch the Vienna police took their position in a double row and seemed undecided whether to salute or not. Finally a courageous noncommissioned officer saluted. Two Christian-Socialist officers behaved quite correctly, saluting in the prescribed manner.

In concluding I must set down the fact that I learned of the restrictions governing my stay in Switzerland for the first time through Lieut.-Col. Kissling. If the Hungarian government knew about all this it did not live up to the conditions imposed.

"How splendid! How wonderful! And yet. When I stood before the simple sand-

FORESTRY BILLS PLANNED (EXCLUSIVE DISPACE)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Final action has been taken by the Callfornia State Board of Forestry on the forestry measures it will introduce in the coming legislative session. These measures have long been under consideration and represent what the board believes is needed at this time. The two outstanding measures are those providing for a paid camp-fire permit law and for an appropriation to make a beginning of State forests. The construction program of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company

No. 4 project will cost $15,000,- CHURCH CONFEREES

WILL TOUR EUROPE

TODAY THE NEW HUPMOBILE EIGHT IS TO BE UNVEILED

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the eagerlyawaited Hupmobile Eight will be revealed for the first time at our salesrooms.

Hupmobile invites your immediate comparison between the performance of its new Eight, and all other eight-cylinder cars and all superior sixes.

For Hupmobile honestly believes this Eight to be the best car of its class in the world -and is perfectly willing to have the car . prove it.

Here at last is an Eight with all the sound qualities of endurance and reliability which have made Hupmobile famous the world

A car which now brings within reach of the average American family, for the first time, every eight-cylinder advantage for which buyers in the past willingly paid hundreds of dollars more.

Plus superiorities of its own, over and above the super-abilities of the eight-cylinder principle, which unquestionably single it out as a new leader among American eights.

Only Hupmobile itself could build such an Eight at such a price.

In many respects the Hupmobile Eight far outdistances anything hitherto accomplished in eight-cylinder engineering in America.

It produces more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than anything which has preceded it.

Its performance is so smooth and symmetrical that there is not even a murmur of "roughness" at any speed.

More than any other fine car, it combines compactness for handling and parking with roominess for riding comfort.

It records an average gasoline economy heretofore unequalled among eights.

It has beauty of design, finish and equipment not excelled within $1,000 of its price; and its own price is less than that of many sixes.

The highest type of engineering ingenuity, coupled with a rigid adherence to sound engineering principles, has produced these results.

If your experience has included eight-cylinder cars—and if you have thought you already know the very finest in motoring-drive the Hupmobile Eight.

We venture to predict that the men and women who drive the Hupmobile Eight, in their own way and at their own pace, will never again be satisfied with any car that falls short of its amazing abilities.

The price of the New Hupmobile Eight is undoubtedly the most attractive ever placed on such a car. We are now ready to give end complete price information when you come in to see the car.

OBSERVATIONS BILL HENRY

Walsh, respectively coach and captain of the Notre Dame football team, stick to their story that the weather or the altitude affected them in their battle with Stanford in the Rose Bowl. They do not advance this because they are chagrined at the way Stanford shoved them around during the latter part of the game but are sincere in saying—when asked—that they didn't do themselves justice. Walsh himself says that when he followed Layden's long punt down the field in the second quarter he was through for the day as far as pepper was concerned. "It wasn't our wind-and our mental attitude was good but it seemed as if we all had weights on our feet," said Walsh. He happened to be talking to a bunch of newspaper men who had asked him to say frankly how the weather had affected him. This remark about the "weights on the feet," drew a giggle when somebody said that if Layden could run as fast as he did with weights on his feet he'd like to see him run when he was really feeling like it.

The aftermath of the Notre Dame-Stanford fracas has left everybody feeling pretty good. Notre Dame, naturally enough, is feeling tickled to death at finishing a football season undefeated after having met the finest elevens in the country from Coast to Coast. Stanford, on the other hand, feels very good over the fact that Warner's men did what they did in the way of outrushing and outpassing the great South Bend eleven. Notre Dame was stopped as never before by Stanford and there is considerable satisfaction in that.

and should have won. He feels that he was largely beaten hy the "breaks" and by luck. He also thinks that Nevers made that touchdown in the fourth quarter and was shoved back by the Notre Dame men. If he had made that touchdown, making the score 20 to 17, Warner believes that Oudde-back would have had a chance to the the score with a boot.

Rockne isn't in the position where he icels that he has to say anything and Rockne isn't the kind of a guy to say anything and Rockne isn't the kind of a guy to say anything anyway but despite the 27-to-10 victory which looks good in the rule books, Rockne feels genuine disapprointment that his team didn't roll up those touchdows entirely by its own efforts on offensive tootball. He feels that the long trip and the change in climate and altitude slowed up his men and forced them to rely on their defensive game.

Both coaches are geod sports

Both coaches are good sports about the game and are load in their praises not only of the opposing team but of the management and the hospitality at Pasadena. When asked about Ptanford Rockne said that the Cards had a fine bunch of boys and that they were particularly good at tackles and ends, outclassing the great Army eleven in that way. He said that Harry Shipkey, at tackle, was right in the same class with Wier of Nebraska, a practically unanimous choice for Al-Western and All-American. Nevers, he said, was as fine a fullback as he ever laid eyes on.

Notre Dame Mentor in Favor of Post-season Co. and Wants to Tackle Stanford Once More

Coach Notre Dame football team, national champion.
The most thrilling incident of that game of thrills at a New Year's Day was the stand the Notre Dame team made a own 1-yard line in the fourth quarter. Our team was as much as it was physically possible when that stand was made. had been able to put across the touchdown, there is no termight have developed thereafter. Notre Dame showed there that it had the fight, because a team that lacked fight well throwing against it.

Many questions have been put to me today about the relative strength of Stanford and other teams we have played in the regular season.

The only team that can compare with Stanford, as regards general style and strength of attack and defenses, is the Army. The Stanford line was a powerful one, and outcharged us as statistics show. The Shipkeys, tackle and end, are wonderful players. Harry, the tackle, is every bit as good as Weir of Nebraska, and most of the all-American pickers seem to have realized how good the Cornhusker is.

Stanford made many gains through one of our tackles after Joe Bach went out with two ribs broken.

CONNETT AND THE MANY HOOK TROUT

CROWLEY UNAFFECTED field to some extent, and the effect of the climate helped too; all of our players but Crowley were vis-ibly affected by it. Don Miller wasn't able to untrack himself at all.

Nevertheless, I'd like to repeat the experiment at some future date if Notre Dame is able to turn out another team that can complete if Notre Dame is able to turn out another team that can complete its regular season undefeated. We learned some things from this trip that will be valuable for a future event of the kind. Nothing would please us more than to meet Stanford, especially in the Middle West if such a game is possible.

Ernie Nevers, the Stanford backfield star, is as fine a full-back as we've seen in a long time. At this moment, Wyckoff of Georgia Tech, is the only player I can recall who is much of the same general style as Nevers.

I fail to subscribe to the opinion voiced by Coach Lou Young of Pennsylvania that the post-season intersectional game, bringing a team from the East or Middle West into this territory is too much of a task.

I would say that I'd hesitate to bring a team that wasn't well up in all departments, because the time has passed when Pacific Coast football is to be taken lightly.

La Barba and McLarnin Speed up Preparations for Ten-Round Mill at Vernon Arena, January 13

Many local fans regard Fidel La Barba as the last word in the antie boxing line. He is likened to Johnny Conlon in his prime and there are experts who go so far as to declare that he is faster than Johnny ever was at his best. Fidel takes on Jimmy McLarnin at the Vernon Coliseum Tuesday night, January 13, over the first ten-round set-to ever staged there. The match was made some days ago and as soon as the articles were signed, both boys went into active training, La Barba at the Newsboys' gymnasium and McLarnin at Dutch Myers's market still has a few good spurts left and these points might as well be added to the others.

Whether it is good policy for the top prices is debatable, but nevertheless, the traders are headed that way. It was generally expected that a heavy volume of liquidation was in store for the market immediately after the first of the year for the account of security owners who were unwilling to sell in 1924 because of the income-tax provisions. Selling of this kind, however, is a constant threat and has the power to produce a substantial reaction at any time.

Dawes Plan

Prosperity Closely Tied to Agriculture

BY FRANK O. WETMORE.

By Frank O. Wetmork.

President First National Bank of Chicago

The year 1924 was a period of liquidation from an economic as well as a political atandpoint. For successful efforts were made to cast aside the psychology created by the war and to seek a return to conditions under which the be carried on. The most notable event in this respect was the adoption by the former beligreents of the Dawes plan and its elaborate which business was conducted by means of negotiation instead of by ultimatum. The impertance of the Dawes plan and its adoption by the war in the period ended November 30. last, omissions of musicipal bonds—trasted to judge, in the fact that it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as incleated, it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as incleated, it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as incleated, it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as incleated, it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as incleated, it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as incleated, it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the world.

Very likely many of the great hopes attached to this plan may incleased. We have been shorted the problems of the p FFFIGIENCY KEYNOTE

From a business standpoint a merger generally is effected in the interests of efficiency in management, production and distribution. The railroad consolidation plan is predicated on benefits expected to accrue from the pooling of equipment, the elimination of uneconomic competition and the centralization of management. Sometimes mergers are arranged when conditions within a certain industry are poor and necessity diotates unification in order to alice operation costs. The consolidation lately announced of the American Sugar Refining Company and the National Sugar Refining Company was of this kind.

Possibly the copper industry will prove fertile ground for consolidations during this year. Prices are now firm around 15 cents a pound for the metal, but the bugaboo of high operating costs is still a factor, and several of the companies are reputed to be looking for relief through mergers. Companies mentioned in this connection include Ray Consolidated, owning control of Chino Copper, Inspiration Copper, United Verde Extension, Phelps-Dodge and Magma.

Petroleum companies may find it to their advantage to pool re-SOME LOSSES POSSIBLE

As regards our own affairs doubt has been expressed as to whether the Dawes plan will prove of immediate benefit to all our industries. Some of these may suffer, at least temporarily, as a result of renewed competition on the part of Germany and other countries in the world's markets. However that may be, the financial assistance which this country is rendering to European industry and commerce will help to bring about a return of stabilised conditions the world over. This will be of the greatest assistance to us, for more than anything else business men require stability in order to be able to judge with some degree of assurance the immediate future of trade and industry. It is interesting to note that in the earlier part of the year the demoralization of French currency was prevented by the timely and successful aid rendered by American bankers. More recently large credits have been granted to both France and Germany. Entirely aside from the actual amounts involved, this has given renewed confidence to the European business world, which felt that it could only be saved if this country were willing to come to its assistance.

It is to be hoped that this new readiness on the part of American investors to finance foreign enterprises will not go so far as to support unsound undertakings.

Cost of living went down with the rest but reached its minimum three months earlier than working hours, which continued to fall, with the months earlier than working hours, which continued to fall, with the result that real earnings did not rise until September with a further rise in October.

When earnings spurted in the first two months of the year while hours of work held their own, though employment had begun to drop, many people believed that the downward tendency in 1923 had been checked and that the upward trend, which had prevalled less than a year before, had been resumed. But in March the decline set in again and continued until July, when the trend became upward.

The cause of an industrial de-cline following so closely on the The cause of an industrial deciline following so closely on the heels of the severe depression of 1920-1921 is still in dispute. Some hold that overproduction for home consumption in 1920-1921 and the impracticability of exporting to Europe because of its lack of money and credit were the outstanding cause. Others believe that the dominant cylical trend is still downward and will continue so until defiation is complete.

An anomaly of the depression of 1924 was the general holding fast of wage rates. Earnings fell because of the reduction of hours of work, but the rates per hour as a general thing did not. Wage reductions in a few industries, particularly textiles, which had suffered severely and continuously during the depression took place, but no general movement followed.

"Real" earnings of course the fered severely and continuously during the depression took place, but no general movement followed.

"Real" earnings, of course, the Industrial Conference Board says, represent the purchasing power of the actual earnings. The power of a dollar in 1914 in purchasing what are held to be the needs of a family in differing quantities of food, shelter, fuel and light, and sundries, is taken as the basis and is compared from month to month and year to year with the changing prices. The value of a man's earnings depends on the prices of the things he must buy; no matter how fast his wages increase he will not profit by them if the prices of things he must buy (cost of living) increases faster than his wages.

Unluckily for the entire accuracy of the foregoing statement, the cost of living is based on the articles in the proportion that they were purchased in 1914. Today, very different living standards prevail. Deductions from it, therefore, must not be applied too strictly. Roughly speaking the cost of living has probably gone up about 60 per cent while the monthly costs for 1924 as calculated on the cost of living "budget" ranged from about 61 to 65 per cent. Nevertheless, the monthly costs are useful in showing the month to month variation in cost of living, for, even if they are not exactly right, they are undoubtedly relatively right.

The year 1924 began with actual weekly earnings for all wage earners practically as high as they had been since 1920; with employment and hours of work lower than they had been throughout 1823, but higher than they had been before then since 1920; and with the cost of living higher than it had been, except during November and December, 1923, since the middle of 1921.

In January and February, 1924, sarnings, according to the industrial, review of the year by the National Industrial Conference Board, spurted a little and hours.

Expected Profit Taking Fails to Appeal; Traders Hanging on for Top Prices

BY EARLE E. CROWE

From the action of the stock market yesterday it appears that the significance incident to the passage from one year to another is lost n the speculative community. The rise of the industrial averages to a point above the 1919 high and the fractional gain in the rails see to indicate that there is no hurry on the part of traders to conver paper profits into real money. market still has a few good spurts left and these points might as well be added to the others.

Whether it is good policy for the top prices is debatable, but nevertheless, the traders are headed that way. It was generally expected that a heavy volume of liquidation was in store for the market immediately after the first of the year for the account of security owners who were unwilling to sell in 1924 because of the income-tax provisions. Selling of this kind, however, is a constant threat and has the power to produce a substantial reaction at any time.

TRADE FORECASTS HELP
Many owners of stocks probably are remaining in the market on the basis of the optimistic forecasts of expanding business operations in 1925. With few exceptions the prophets have all continued us a server of builts of the circulation of resolutions in the case of the rails in the past few weeks. After the removal of the incubus of radical legislation the news of consolidations in the railroad field was one of the principal factors in setting fire to speculative imagination, which soon spread through the entire list. Since the Missouri Pacific and, apparently, the Nickel plate consolidation is successful, it is likely that several other systems will choose to unite in the next few months.

Chicago Banker Eulogizes

Dawes Plan

BY FRANK O. WETMORE. resident First National Bank of

Chicago

The year 1924 was a period of liquidation from an economic as well as a political standpoint. For the first time since the World War, succassful efforts were made to cast aside the psychology created by the war and to seek a return to conditions under which the peaceful work of the world can be carried on. The most notable event in this respect was the adoption by the former belligerents of the Dawes plan and its elaboration by the conference of London at which business was conducted by means of negotiation instead of by ultimatum. The impertance of the Dawes plan and its adoption by the parties interested does not consist, in the view of those best qualified to judge, in the fact that it is a final solvent for all the problems created by the war and the peace, but in that, as indicated, it represents a return to a normal state of mind on the part of the ruling forces of the world.

Very likely many of the great hopes attached to this plan may prove to have been vain and most likely many other negotiations and readjustments will take place before the world can finally forget reparations and allied questions, but it is a start in the right direction, and, having stated, readjustments can undoubtedly be made to meet new conditions and unthought of complications as they arise.

As regards our own affairs doubt has been expressed as to whether the Dawes plan will prove of immediate benefit to all our industries. Some of these may suffer, at least temporarily, as a result of renewed competition on the part of Germany and other countries in the world's markets. However that may be, the financial assistance which this country is rendering to European industry and commerce will help to bring about a return of stabilised conditions the world over. This will be of the greatest assistance to us, for more than anything else business men require stability in order to be able to judge with some degree of assurance the immediate future of trade and industry. It is interesting to note that in the earlier part of the year the demoralisation of French currency was prevented by the timely and successful aid rendered by Americans. SOME LOSSES POSSIBLE ents an unusual history of tax exempt bond issuance. The flotation of municipal issues for ordi nary public improvements, and the funding of the substantial expenditures occasioned by extensive highway construction programs have been abnormally augmented by the extraordinary borrowings on the part of various States for the purpose of soldiers' compensation.

While figures for the complete calendar year are not as yet available, it is significant, that, for the period ended November 29, last, omissions of musicipal bonds—representing funded debt, as contrasted to so-called temporary leans, and exclusive of the issues of insular possessions—passed by a substantial margin the $1,250.00.000 mark. This total exceeds the amount issued in a similar period in any preceding year by approximately $1,250,000.000.

Obviously, the distribution of this large amount to the ultimate purchaser and holder created an unusual demand upon the investment funds of the country available, for such securities. Furthermore, from the standpoint of exemption from the Federal income tax, municipal bonds cannot be considered as enjoying an exclusive field. All of the obligations marketed by the Federal land banks, the joint stock land banks and the Federal intermediate credit banks are free from Federal income taxation and in so far as this feature is concerned, come into direct market competition with municipals. They consequently absorbe a huge amount of investment funds, which might otherwise be available for the purchase of municipal bonds. However, only a portion of the aggregate tax-exempt financing is actually absorbed by the individual investor whose principal object is to obtain relief from fincome-tax burdens.

Other conditions remaining the same, the flat reduction of 25 per cent, applicable to all individual income-tax burdens.

Icc-President, Halsey, Stuart Co., Inc.
In retrospect, the year 1924 presents an unusual history of taxampt bond issuance. The flotation of municipal issues for ordinary public improvements, and the unding of the substantial expendings occasioned by extensive high-iray construction programs have months earlier than working hours, which continued to fall, with the result that real earnings did not rise until September with a further rise in October.

When earnings spurted in the first two months of the year while hours of work held their own, though employment had begun to drop, many people believed that the downward tendency in 1923 had been checked and that the upward trend, which had prevailed less than a year before, had been resumed. But in March the decline set in again and continued cline set in again and continued until July, when the trend became until July, when the trend became upward.

The cause of an industrial decline following so closely on the heels of the severe depression of 1920-1921 is still in dispute. Some held that overproduction for home consumption in 1920-1921 and the impracticability of exporting to Europe because of its lack of money and credit were the outstanding cause. Others believe that the dominant cylical trend is still downward and will continue so until deflation is complete.

An anomaly of the depression of 1924 was the general holding fast of wage rates. Earnings fell because of the reduction of hours of work, but the rates per hour as a general thing did not. Wage reductions in a few industries, particularly textiles, which had suffered severely and continuously during the depression took place, but no general movement followed.

"Real" earnings, of course, the Industrial Conference Board says, represent the purchasing power of the actual earnings. The power of the actual earnings. The power of the actual earnings and in 1914 in purchasing what are held to be the needs of a family in differing quantities of food, shelter, fuel and light, and sundries, is taken as the busis and is compared from month to month and year to year with the changing prices. The value of a man's earnings depends on the prices of things he must buy; no matter how fast his wages increase he will not profit by them if the prices of things he must-buy (cost of living) increases faster than his wages.

Unluckily for the entire accuracy of the foregoing statement, the cost of living is based on the articles in the proportion that they were purchased in 1914. Today, very different living standards prevail. Deductions from it, therefore, must not be applied too strictly. Roughly speaking the cost of living 'budget' ranged from about 61 to 65 per cent. Nevertheless, the monthly costs for 1924 as calculated on the cost of living 'budget' ranged from about 61 to 65 per cent. Nevertheless, the monthly costs are useful in showing the month to month variation i tual weekly earnings for all wage earners practically as high as they had been since 1920; with employment and hours of work lower than they had been throughout 1823, but higher than they had been before then since 1920; and with the cost of living higher than it had been, except during November and December, 1923, since the middle of 1921.

In January and February, 1924, sarnings, according to the industrial conference was provided and cost of living increased less than two-thirds, the wage fact occurred to the surface of living and the sarnings according to the industrial conference was provided and cost of living increased less than two-thirds, the wage fact occurred wage rates have been doubled. more recent desperade known as the oil-station bandit.

This was the prediction yester—day of Arthur W. Fittgerald, director of investigation for the Standard Oil Company, as he released statistics showing that depredations among Standard Oil stations decreased two-thirds during the past year of 1924 under those reported for 1925.

A literal interpretation of the old saying that "Crime doem";

of the erstwhile unofficial oil station collector, according to Fitzgerald.

"You see, we figured that if the bandits got nothing for their trouble they'd soon desist in their operations or at least seek more chief of the investigation bureau.

"Est the beginning of 1924 we lassugurated a new system. In the first place, oil station salesmen were given only 35 as a working

Jewels Said to be Valued at Thousands of Dollars

Heirlooms Are Stolen from Wilshire Home

Two burglaries on New Year's Altadena residence, in which booty valued at thousands of dollars was taken, were reported by the autaken, were reported by the authorities yesterday.

Jewelry reported to have been valued at thousands of dollars was stolen from the home of Leonard Withall, 1406 Calaveras avesue, Altadena.

Although considerable secrety surrounded the theft, a report of the missing articles was forwarded to the Pasadena police detective bureau by a jewelry insurance company, according to detectives, although no report of the asserted burglary was given them.

thy You Should Go To Church

By Rev. Frank Dyer, Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church.

WE ARE NO LONGER LIVING IN A DAY WHEN KINGS AND SQUIRES CAN TELL US WHAT TO DO. WHETHER THIS SHALL BE SETTER OR WORSE FOR US WILL DEPEND IN THE END ON THE RELIGION AND WORSHIP ARE NEEDED IN EVERY LIFE TO CREATE CONDITIONS OF INSPIRATION, RESTRAINT, ALTRUISM AND SERVICE; TO MAKE LIFE ENDURING AND SIGNIFICANT. IN THE FREEDOM AND PRIVILEGE OF TODAY, NO YOUNG LIFE WITHOUT RELIGION IS SAFE FROM POSSIBLE WRECKAGE. THE CHURCH IS THE MOTHER OF HUMAN SOULS, AND STILL GUIDES TO THOSE VITRUES WHICH ARE THE FUNDAMENTALS OF HUMAN SECURITY AND HAPPINESS. THEREFORE GO TO CHURCH; IF ONE DOES NOT HELP YOU, GO TO ANOTHER.

THERE ARE MANY CHURCHES TODAY, INTELLIGENT AND SCIENTIFIC AS WELL AS DEVOUT MEN LIKE DR. DAVID STARR JORDAN AND DR. MILLIKAN HAVE FOUND THEM. IT IS WRONG TO PROFIT TO A CHRISTIAN CIVILIZATION AND NOT HELP TO PRESERVE IT. DO YOUR PART FOR THIS GENERA.

I IMITED SUCCESS L Viscount Cecil of Chetwood has been signally honored in New York in the presentation of the medal and peace award made to him recently at the Hotel Astor before a company of distinguished representative Americans. To be hailed as Woodrow Wilson's successor in the great work undertaken by the League of Nations is a distinction and a responsibility. Acknowledging the responsibility, Viscount Cecil went on record as spokesman for the League. In a brief review of the work so far accomplished he was able to point to many notable successes, to some dublous compulpits, platforms and public forums have failed to provide a substitute for the old-time armor, still apparently the sole real safeguard for peaceable nations against for-

One step was taken in this direction, but not by the organization sponsored by Vis-count Cecil. On the initiative of President Harding, four leading powers agreed to a imitation of naval armaments and entered into treaties to sateguard the peace of the Pacific. But the treaty only embraced one portion of the globe and the limitation of armaments only affected these nations, nu-merically but a fraction of the total world population. Moreover, the reduced arman opulation. Moreover, the reduced arma-sents represented a minor quantity of the reapons for defense still permitted to the igners of the treaty.

That was as far as it was possible to go

That was as far as it was possible to go and it was a very little way. The League of Nations can find no way to go even as far. Indeed, were the four signatory nations to disarm entirely on both land and sees, war confiagrations would break out in a dozen places five minutes later.

While human nature is what it is the dering about the city that there have been quite so badly clawed.

But the titles of the photoplays, instead of being toned flown to what the public thought they were going to be, have not, to say the least, greatly gained in puritanic effect. In fact, it would seem to one wander of the nations that want peace

While human nature is what it is the armed power of the nations that want peace is the only antidote to war. And a League of Nations to control in tiself the armies and navies and air forces of the whole earth, in which all the inhabitants of every continent and island on the globe are willing cheerfully to participate, white, brown, yellow and black, would call for a complex organizing machinery powerful enough to annihilate the curse of the Tower of Babel.

The present League of Nations is doing excellent work in a far too restricted sphere. But it wouldn't form a nucleus for the formation of that larger and more powerful league, to which aione could be trusted the colossal job of keeping the peace in the that it is no longer allured by it, would been to one wantering about the city that there have been flashed from the billboards during the past month or two more of the titles of plays any previous period. Americans are naturally lovers of peace and, being such, honor the high ideals held by Woodrow Wilson and appreciate the peace efforts of Viscount Cecil and all those striving to give these ideals through the League of Nations a practical expression. But Americans are also dauntless fighters for the right, their altruism tempered with the metal of common sense. EXPLODING THE BUNK

William E. Knoz, president of the American Bankers' Association, says that chance is a considerable element in all great success.

Combined with his arduous studies in school,
Achieved his exalted position.
The reason he stands head and shoulders above
His vastly less presperous neighbor
Is due, he will tell you, alone to his love

By pompous ofd parties I've oft been assailed.

Derided, denounced and upbraided,
And branded a loafer because I have failed
To pile up a fortune like they did.

They all seem to think they need but to toil
Till the sweat on their necks witts their collars—
And the world by and by will reward them with spoil
Worth millions and millions of dollars.

But now comes a star in the skies of finance.

The blood of his brethren to curdle,
By saying right out that the factor of chance
May put a lad over a hurdle.
It is good, he observes, to have plenty of brain,
To be tollful and thrifty and plucky,
But it's folly to hope that a fortune you'll gain—
Unless you're a little bit lucky.

This doctrine will shock every solemn old gent Who holds that his life is a model, And who'll say it is wrong to arouse discontent, With dangerous Bolshevist twaddle. But as for ourselves such a theory seems Exceedingly soothing and pleasant
And richly conductve to glorious dreams—
Though our luck's pretty rotten, at present!

LAST OF THE LAUREATES?

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Will Robert Bridges be the last of the British poet laurant question, which lately has arisen in Eugland, is being deban fact that the man now wearing the bays, is still alive, the eighty-first year and unable to mount his Pegasus even with der. The Spectator strongly intimates that when, "in the cou ture and time the position of laureate shall be left vacant" it filled, and cites the controversy that followed the demise of as one reason why there should not be another unseemly squ place.

Tennyson died in 1892 and the debate upon who should be his successor was spread over a period of four years during which Britain had no official laureate, though there were unwreathed ones aplenty. Among these were Swinburne and Edwin Arnold, Swinburne was climinated from the list because he was rather too erotic and was not a court poet. Arnold, it was held, was more of a Buddhist than a Christian. Kipling was talked of and so was William Watson, but Kipling's rude references to "the widow at Windsor" and his left-handed slur at the British baronetage in bis outspoken "Mary Gloster" took him out of the running, while Watson's "ahame-on-England's-arms" note in his poem of Greece and other protests against "the sleeping liom" had gained him no particular favor at court.

When in 1896 Alfred Austin, an The suckers had a good gained him no particular favor at court.

When in 1896 Alfred Austin, an obscure Tory leader writer, finally was chosen for the office, with its £99 a year stipend, the selection, so far from satisfying literary England, was regarded as an anticlimax. Everybody asked, "Who's Austin?" All that literary California knew of him was that he had highly lauded the poetical work of Thomas Lake Harris, the mystic and free-love Communist of Sonoma county. But Austin filled the post until 1901, when he passed on, leaving a handful of verses that might or might not be considered poetry.

These he Polyant might not set to the sexes by the way as the sexes by the way as scratches a match.

might or might not be considered poetry.

Then Dr. Robert Bridges, probably as good a hospital physician as ever wrote blank verse, was made laureate. Dr. Bridges had written some plays in poetic form, but these had not dimmed the luster of Shakespeare's fame. Among them were "Nero," "Achilles" and "The Return of Ulysses." They were of a classic highbrow order, but it was pointed out that Stephen Phillips's "Ulysses" was far above the standard set up by the good doctor, whose poetic output since 1916 has been so inconsiderable as well as negligible as to make people wonder what a laureate does to earn his salary. But while he has not kept up with the procession of the rapid-fire Georgian poets he has not abased his victorian muse by competing with Sidney Philip, whose "soul is stretched tight across the skies" and who hears "a voice that strains the canary birds" and performs other poetic stunts, without a single footnote to explain them.

Ben Jonson was the first British laureate, a position created by monthly and the proposed the process of the strains the canary birds" and performs other poetic stunts, without a single footnote to explain them.

ary birds" and performs other poetic stunts, without a single footnoie to explain them.

Ben Jonson was the first British laureate, a position created by Charles I in 1617. Then came Dryden, and eight others followed up to Southey, after which Wordsworth, who was Tennyson's Immediate successor, wore the bays. This laureate business has created so much jealousy and other bad feeling and has been the cause of so much bitter criticism that one would think England would be heartlly sick of it. However, it ill becomes an American to asperse the ideas of those who take laureates seriously, for several of our States, including California, now have them, and they have been a source of infinite delight to the colyumists. That the average member of a State Legislature should deem himself capable of judging the fitness of a versifier for this exalted position certainly is funny enough.

In England, with its decadent laureates, the idea is admittedly outworn. As for naming a successor to the present British laureate, those who do the thinking for King George, if they are wise, will think as little of it as they would of naming a fix other people's.

sensation. We had a Hawaiian Trio which was composed of genuine native Hawaiians, who played strictly Hawaiian music. A searchfor a similar organization would undoubtedly take you back a considerable distance into the recesses of your memory. The Aloha Trio, presented through the courtesy of the Dragon Cafe, comprised Robert Kauahi, steel guitar, R. Vierra, ukulele, and Ben Kekua, guitar.

Grace Curry, whose dextreus fingers on the harp attracted attention to her talent when she appeared in KHJ's radio broadcasting class last Saturday morning. Prof. Walter Sylvaster Herizog opened the children's program with his daily lecture on American history. Sir Richard Headrick followed with squeral recitations and his youthful patter. Vyola Von, who bubbles with enthusiasm, gave a group of amusing and interesting poems. Nadine Muurick, 12-year-old vicilinist pupil of Mrs. O. Jones, contributed two solos. Madge Erickson, 13-year-old dancer, furnished a novelty dance with sleigh bells strapped to her arms and legs. Body of Sailor Dragged From

The body of C. M. Ryan, 26-yearold sailor from the U.S.S. Arisons, was recovered yesterday from the lagoon at Westlake Park after Wilshire police had dragged the lake all morning. Ryan was drowned Thursday night when a cance in which he and Arthur Landes, 24, a sailor of the U.S.S.
Marylahd, were riding capsized.
Landes was able to swim ashore and was treated at Receiving Hospital for submersion and shock, Search for Ryan's body during the night was unavailing.
The body of Ryan was taken to the E. E. Coop funeral parlors.

HAWAIIAN LINES BUSY

Passenger travel to Hawaii on the liners of the Los Angeles Steamship Company is heavier at present than at any time in the bistory of the company, according to R. F. Cullen, general passenger agent. More tourists than ever before are arriving here from the East with their tickets routed to Hawaii on the liners of the company, he said.

One of the company's liners, the City of Los Angeles, will sail at noon teday for the islands with a passenger list of 240, among whom are included a number of residents of Southern California. Included among those sailing for Honolulu are David Miley and his wife, Thomas Lacy, president of the New York Credit and Clearinghouse of New York; Col. A. H. Morse of Fairbanks & Morse; Col. Charles Haskell and his wife; R. E. Vanderveen of Holland, Mich., and Arthur Bond and his wife.

Mora's Grill has what the present generation terms "atmosphere"—being located in the old part of Los Angeles. Wonderful food they serve at their 60 cent luncheons—while their dinners take on the aspect of a banquet. 107 'West Market street is the address, a half square south of the Postofice.

Wrap the fish in the wax paper before putting it in the refrigerator. Then the odor will not penetrate the other foods.

These are the kind of days which bring you to a realisation of your need for warm coay blankets—no better time bould. Simank Bros.

Books bound in leather should be taken our of the hookease occasionally and dusted with an oiled cloth, to restore some of the oil, that has dried out of the leathers.

What tastes better than some crisp toast spread with Glen Rosa Marmalade, that "bestest" of apreads. There's all the difference in the world in the way Marmalade is made. The fruit must be of a certain ripeness and each detail requires milutust attention. Glen Rosa you will find to the susern's paste. It seems to suit every one.

The bartlet moids with cookie dough; fill with dry beans and bake until the tarts are a nice light brown; turn out the beans and cool. Drain the syrup from a large can of preserved sliced peaches and place in a small saucepan; heat, add the juice of fail a lemon, half a oup of sugar and one table-spoon of granulated gelatin soaked in half a cup of water for five minutes; stir until the sugar and gelatine are dissolved. Pill the baked shells with the sliced peaches, pour over the syrup and set in a cold place until set. Cover the tops with whipped cream or manimallow filling, sprinkle with finely; chopped toasted almonds and candided orange peel:

Bankruptcy Suit Dismissal Asked in Valhalla Case

Motion to dismiss a creditors' petition in bankruptcy was fied with the United States District Court yesterday by the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Finance Company, promoters of the Valhalia Memorisal Park and the Valhalia Mausoleum Park. It is averred on behalf of the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Company that it is not insolvent as asserted by the creditors, and that it has not failed to live up to its obligations.

of cemetery lots in the Valhalis projects in the San Fernando Valley, have not qualified to main tain their action and have not passerted facts sufficient to show that Lanzit declared that the evidence against him did not justify the penalty imposed on him.

Lanzit was arrested by deputy sheriffs while in the act of placing a bomb under his wife's concession at Venice. The prosecution, during the trial, charged that he sought to kill his wife in order that he might come into possession of her money.

Woman Sticks to Story of Attack by Three; Quarrel With Man Hinted

The theory that Mrs. Clairs Williams, 32 rears of age, who was found unconscious and literally drenched with a searing acid in the street at First and Bixel streets, Tuesday night, poured the fluid over herself after a quarrel with a male friend was advanced yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Craig and Jarvis, who are working on the case.

The detectives stated that they have found that Mrs. Williams purchased a pint bottle of lynol, containing a strong mixture of carbolic acid, from a Sun Drug Store a? Fourth and Spring streets about thirty minutes before she was found by pedestrinns at First and Bixel streets.

The bottle which contained the lysol and acid, the detectives said, they found empty in her pocket-book. About a block from the spot where she was found, they said, they picked up a handkerchief spotted with lysol stains, which they are convinced is hers.

Mrs. Williams was questioned at length by the detectives at the General Hospital esterday. She stuck close to her original story to the effect that two men and a woman attacked and poured the acid on her while she was on her way home. She failed to describe any one of her three professed assailants, and was rather vague on many other points in the case, the detectives said.

Commanders Must Obtain Clearance from Health Officers at Port

RULE TODAY

Precautions against rats must be taken by all vessels in the ports of New Orleans, San Francisco and Los Angeles, according to an order o' United States Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming, received yesterday and in effect at daybreak today. Vessels leaving these three ports, the order requires, must obtain a sanitary clearance certificate from the United States Public Health officers of the port, stating they have compiled with the rat-guard regulations and been fumigated; and on their arrival at another American port must holes the quarantine flag and submit to inspection. Maj. H. A. Spencer, surgeon in charge at Los Angeles Harber, said the order will be enforced strictly here and that heavy penalties will be inflicted for any attempt to evade it.

Mr. Brown also issued a general warning to the public not to burn gas heaters in rooms unless there is proper ventilation. The same precaution should be taken with gas ovens, he mid. The fumes are doorless and colorless, he said, and cannot be detected. For that reason windows in rooms where gas heaters are going should be open both at the top and bottom to give ventilation.
